

BLOGS	RESTAURANTS	ENTERTAINMENT	FASHION	NIGHTLIFE	HOME DESIGN
HEALTH/FITNESS	BUSINESS	LEGAL	TRAVEL	WEDDINGS	BEST OF

HOME/DESIGN BLOG

A DAILY CONVERSATION ABOUT PRETTY PEOPLE, PLACES, AND THINGS

Emily Summers Will Open Shop in Highland Park Village

An elegantly restrained interior designed by Emily Summers. Image courtesy the designer.

POSTED IN INTERIOR DESIGNERS, OPENING AND CLOSINGS, OUT & ABOUT, SHOPPING. | OCT 13, 2014 AT 12:20 PM
BY MARGAUX ANBOUBA

0 comments

f

t

The stores are a changin' at Highland Park Village. And while we thought it was exciting that Hermes was expanding, we're even more pumped that internationally renowned interior designer Emily Summers is adding her store into the mix. Slated to open on October 17, the store has been donned "Studio 54" thanks to its location: suite 54.

The 1,300 square foot space will carry vintage furnishings, custom designs by local artists, and Summers' favorite furniture, lighting, rug, and accessory lines that she has found over years of travel. All of the pieces will fit perfectly into Summers' well known aesthetic: elegantly restrained contemporary. Stop by to find ceramics from SMU teacher Brian Molanphy, contemporary rugs from F.J. Hakimian, 20th century furniture from Liz O'Brien, and more.

Subscribe to D Home

D HOME

COVER
The Latest Custom Home Trends

FEATURES
How to Invest $25,000 When Selling Your Home

Cool Classes For a More Interesting You

A Not-So-Empty Nest

SUBSCRIBE NOW

AND SAVE 70%

